

Tele2 Named Sweden's Most Sustainable Company and 37th Globally by Time Magazine

Stockholm – Tele2 AB (“Tele2”) (Nasdaq Stockholm: TEL2 A and TEL2 B) has been named Sweden's most sustainable company and ranked 37th globally by Time Magazine and Statista on their inaugural World's Most Sustainable Companies list, featuring 500 companies from more than 30 countries. Earlier this year, Tele2 was also recognized as Sweden's climate leader by the Financial Times.

The ranking includes a comprehensive selection process of over 5,000 of the world's largest companies that underwent a rigorous 4-step process to identify the top 500 most sustainable companies. For each company, an overall sustainability score was calculated with a maximum score of 100. In total, Tele2 got 76.13 points, which is the highest rating for any Swedish company and makes Tele2 rank number 37 globally, among companies from over 30 countries.

- We are honored to be recognized as Sweden's most sustainable company and proud to rank so well also in a global context. Together with our top rating on the Financial Times European Climate Leaders list for two consecutive years, this recognition underscores the hard work and dedication of our employees in advancing sustainability. We will continue to strive for excellence and drive positive change in the industry and society, says Kjell Johnsen, President and CEO of Tele2.

The assessment involved over 20 key data points in three categories: “Commitments & Ratings,” “Reporting & Transparency,” and “Stewardship.”

Commitments & Ratings

Analysis of external ratings from reputable organizations such as CDP, where Tele2 is rated A since 2022, and commitments to sustainability frameworks such as UN Global Compact and Science Based Targets initiative.

Reporting & Transparency

In addition to external ratings, the standards of Tele2's own sustainability reporting and its transparency were evaluated.

Stewardship

Environmental and social Key Performance Indicators from Tele2's Sustainability reports, covering aspects such as emission intensity, renewable energy use, gender representation, and employee turnover.
